Press Release

In the last 4 years, Aglatech14 has grown strongly, becoming the 9th translation company in the country, the 3rd in the ranking of the Italian-owned ones.

This formidable achievement has been possible thanks to the hard work and passion of everyone in the Aglatech14's team.

Its CEO, Giacomo Grassi, a seasoned business leader who gained his many years of experience outside of the translation sector, has transformed what used to be a small translation agency into a structured company, known for its quality and peculiar knowledge.

Aglatech14 is now ready to move to the next phase and this will require long-time translation industry expertise and high acumen to choose the right strategy and ensure its execution. At the same time, the company requires a succession plan to be completed within the next three years.

For this reason we are pleased to announce that Olga Blasco, an industry veteran and growth strategist, has taken on an interim role of "Chief Operations Officer" in the company to support Giacomo, who will remain in his position of President and CEO.

In addition to her commitment to Aglatech14, Olga will retain all her ongoing professional engagements and social entrepreneurship work.
